

YOYOGI NATIONAL GYMNASIUM

KENZO TANGE

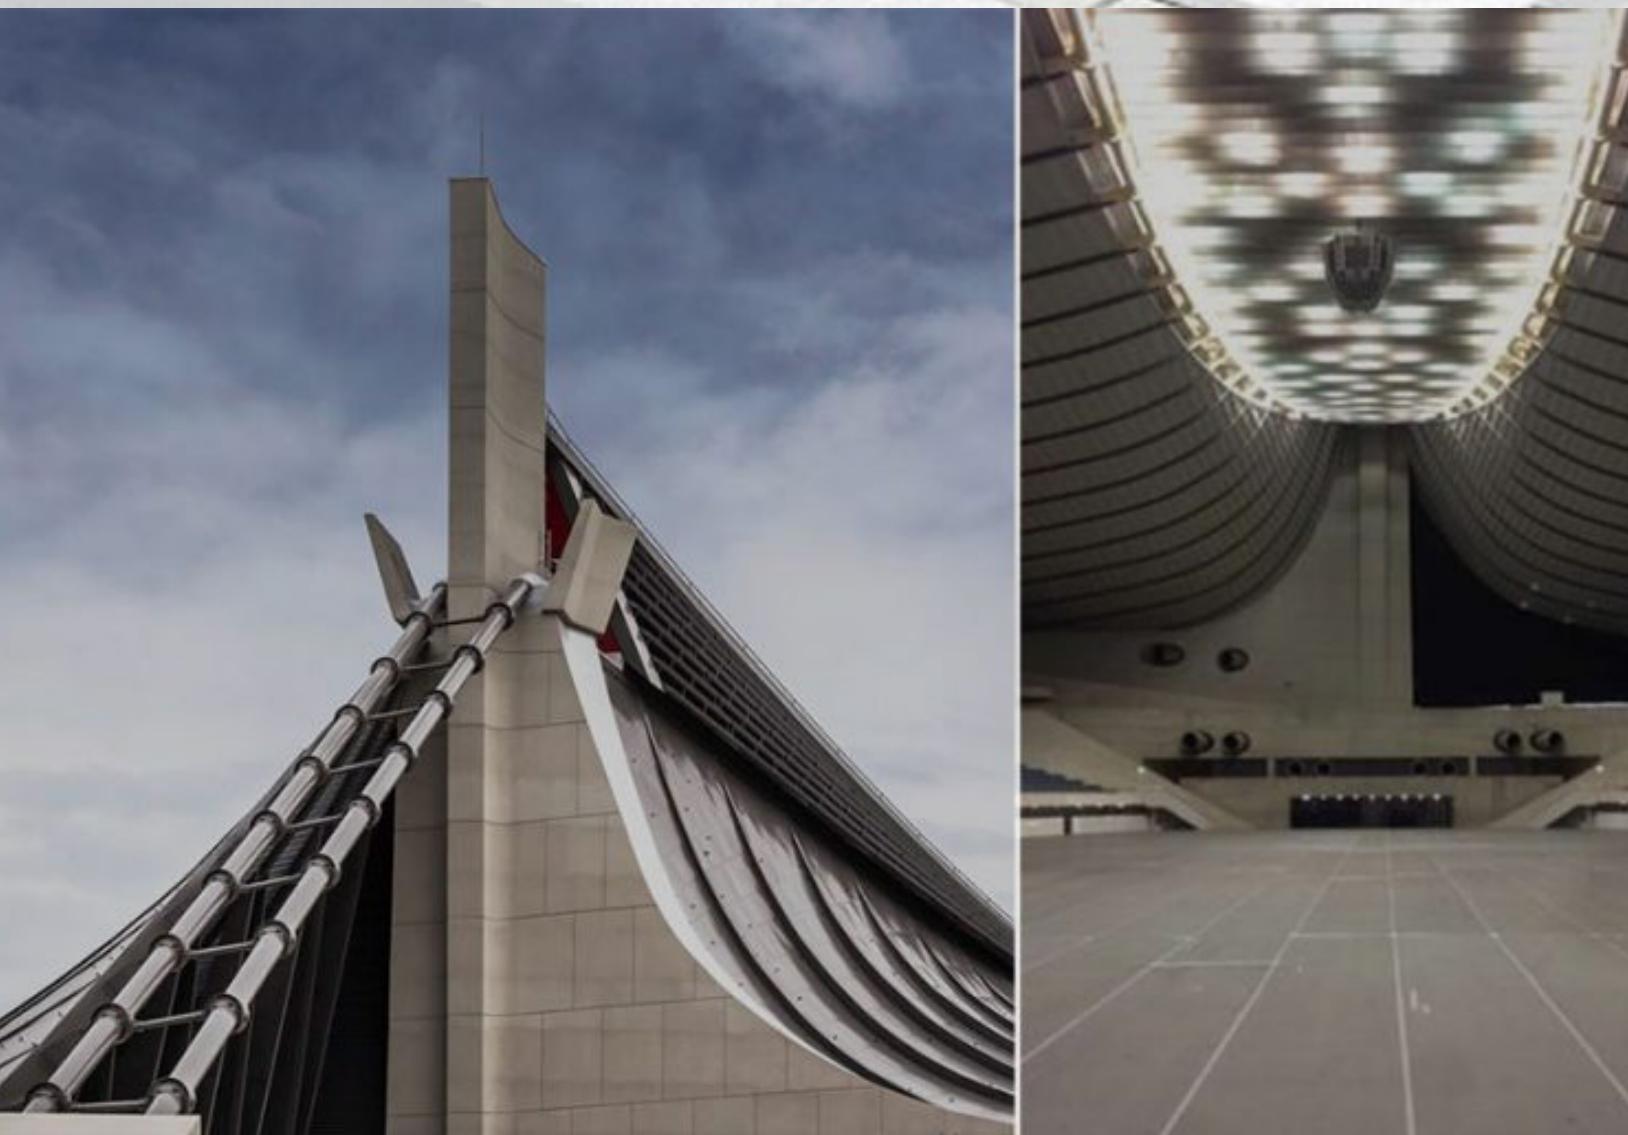

Location: Tokyo, Japan

Status: Completed in 1964

Size: 25.396m²

Seats: 13.291

Client: Japan Sport Council

STRUCTURAL

Saddle-shaped concrete shells, each spanning 78 meters in length and 110 meters in width. Designed for maximum visibility

ADAPTABILITY

The interior of the stadium was designed to be flexible and adaptable, with movable partitions that allow the space to be configured in a variety of ways

ARTISTIC

The architect tried to implement the western modernist aesthetics and traditional Japanese architecture. The roof structure resembles a snails shell

Has similarities to a Japanese pagoda

“...I want, by all means, my buildings to be free of the label traditional.” - Kenzo Tange.
